Study Away and Experiential Opportunities for Online Students!

G&EE has online-friendly study away and experiential programs that we want to make sure you don't miss!

Short-term Study Away
Please note that all of our summer short-term study away programs are open to online students!

There are two types of short-term study away programs: faculty-led and short-term exchange.

Faculty-led programs are led by a GWSB faculty member and require pre- and/or post-travel sessions in addition to off-campus travel dates. Off-campus travel dates for faculty-led programs are typically between one to two weeks. This summer there are two faculty-led programs to Italy and Sweden. The Italy program will have on-campus sessions before and after the in-country dates, however, the faculty will make arrangements with accepted online students in order for them to join the on-campus sessions virtually. The Sweden program is a hybrid course, consisting of asynchronous online instruction combined with live virtual sessions and face-to-face activities during the study abroad component. In the asynchronous online instruction, you are not required to login at the same time to “attend” class; however, you must still follow the timeline of readings, lectures, assignment submissions, discussions, etc., as designated in the course schedule.

Short-term exchange programs are led by one of GWSB’s 21 prestigious partner universities. There are no pre- and/or post-travel sessions, however, for some programs there may be pre- and/or post-travel assignments and/or readings. Required contact hours all occur in-country, with the length of the in-country dates varying from one to six weeks.

The deadline to apply is Friday, February 1st at 11:59 pm EST.

Business & Society Series

The Business & Society series is a short-term intensive experiential course which runs in July and requires in-person participation in Washington, DC for four days (Wednesday through Saturday). Unlike other G&EE programs, students do not need to apply to register for Business & Society courses. Instead, students can enroll through GWeb when summer registration opens in March (please click HERE for the most up to date summer registration schedule). We recommend registering early, as these courses fill up quickly.
